

Contract Project Manager

Putra Primia Consulting

Contract Project Manager (6 months)

Description

We are a boutique consulting practice focused on supply chain management. We require an experienced ERP Project Manager to help implement a single ERP system supporting our client's business initiatives, and rescuing their current ERP implementation.

Project involves standardizing business processes, master data, etc. across the company. This is a term contract position of up to 6 months duration.

Job Requirements

For this position, Project Manager will be responsible for day to day project operations for ERP implementation involving consolidation of individual, unique ERP instances in the current client's organization.

The Project Manager candidate must have the following:

Expert in project management with at least 3-5 years' experience and a strong structured methodology background and approach to project implementations Project management experience involving multiple locations ERP implementation experience preferably in Microsoft Dynamics AX Strong leadership skills, able to manage a diverse team across multiple organizations Able to lead business users and technical teams to workable solutions Able to lead implementation partner(s) Dynamic oral and written communication skills, able to communicate with both business and technical staff at all levels.

The following skills and/or experience are desirable:

PMP certification ERP implementation for Accounting, Sales Distribution, Manufacturing and/or Purchasing experience

The successful candidate should have excellent organizational and analytical skills, superb attention to detail and an outstanding process-oriented perspective on the overall workflow. We are looking for an enthusiastic problem-solver who is comfortable taking charge, making good decisions on the fly and formulating creative solutions to day-to-day problems, all while handling multiple tasks simultaneously with ease. Comfortable working independently as well as on a team, the successful candidate should be highly self-motivated and dedicated to professional development and success.

Please write in confidence by enclosing a CV in Word or PDF to:

mia@putraprimus.com (before 27 January 2012)